PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

MAPALO is an herbal extract made from the bark of the Matapalo Phoradendrum crassifolium tree - a Ficus species. Tribal groups in South America have reported it to have neuro-regenerative properties, pain-reducing properties, as well as many other impressive medicinal effects. Some health care professionals have reported that MAPALO can be helpful in stopping the progression of, or reversing, disorders such as Alzheimer's disease, Parkinson's disease, and certain other neurodegenerative diseases, in part, by helping to detoxify heavy metals and other toxins from the brain.

RESEARCH

Ethnomedical practitioners extensively use trees of the Moraceae family (including the Ficus species) because of the remarkable therapeutic effects of the presence of an array of phytochemicals which include flavonoids, alkaloids, tannins, stilbenes, terpenoids and other active proteins.
